Subject: Your idea

Dear Leandre:

Today I met with Peter Moulinos to review the background information you provided us last week and he is interested in working with you.

He advised me that the firm proceeds on a joint venture approach when presented with business ideas such as yours. Of course, the joint venture agreement would be negotiated.

The firm would then create a publicly trading/reporting corporation and help you secure financing for your business plan. In the meantime, the patent application would be submitted. Therefore, it is highly likely that the company would be trading at the same time your patent would be reviewed by the U.S. Patent Office. In total, the time frame for setting everything up would be approximately 6 months if everything goes as planned.

As for your concern about "selling" your idea to internet companies, our firm represents many internet companies who would probably be very interested in working with us.

Leandre, if you like, we could set up a conference call on Thursday to further discuss this plan. We will also be signing and faxing the Non-disclosure Agreement if everything is in order after the conference call.

If you should have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Best Regards,

Lefteris
